Originally built around the year 1480 as a farmhouse and residential dwelling, was later to be used as the local courthouse for many centuries. Eventually the building fell into dis-repair, however due to the generosity of the people in the town who paid for the renovations, the building survived the years. The National Trust acquired the property in the 1950's for its protection and made the decision to lease the property to locals in the town.

The lease owners then decided to transform this amazing vine covered cottage (which transforms in colour with the seasons) into a traditional Welsh tearoom for all to enjoy.

It has proved massively successful and has been drawing tourists from all over the World inside ever since.

It's even made the front covers of The Lonely Planet Wales Travel Guide, and the Beano comic!

Nowadays it is an award winning tearoom, family run business, and one of the must see attractions in the Eryri National Park.

The return business is unbelievable and many tour companies visit numerous times throughout the year, however our clients also turn numerous down. There is the potential to expand the business and increase the turnover.
